

Campaign for Real Education

(Please print this form, complete it, and post it to Anthony Freeman at the address below.)

Formed in 1987, the Campaign for Real Education is an independent organisation working for higher standards and more choice in state education. One of our greatest strengths is our network of supporters among parents, teachers, academics and others who share our concerns. We are at the forefront of the debate about vital educational issues and we provide free information and advice. However, our work is all funded by voluntary donations. So please support us: you can be sure that your donation will be gratefully received and carefully used.

I/We support the Campaign for Real Education.
